

Japan-Germany Secret Pact Is First Objective In Peace Treaty Attack

OPPOSITION TO WORLD LEAGUE CANNOT AGREE

Senate Committee Would Ask President for Information On Japanese, Chinese and Costa Rican Peace Status

Senator Swanson Opens Battle in Senate for Ratification With Speech Praising League Plan as Peace Guarantee

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The Senate foreign relations committee, beginning consideration today of the peace treaty, reported three minor resolutions, bearing on the Versailles negotiations, but took no action on the question of asking President Wilson to appear in committee discussion of the treaty.

The resolutions reported would call upon the President and the State Department for information regarding an alleged secret treaty between Japan and Germany; regarding the arrest in Germany made by General Bliss; Secretary Lansing and Henry White against the Shantung settlement, and as to why Costa Rica "was not permitted" to sign the peace treaty.

INVITATION TO WILSON NOT CONSIDERED TODAY

Members of the foreign relations committee said practically all of the two hours' meeting was taken up with consideration of these resolutions, and that there was no discussion as to inviting the President to meet with the committee or of the proposal separately to consider the

Immediately after the committee adjourned, debate on actual ratification of the treaty began in the Senate. Senator Swanson of Virginia, a Democratic member of the committee, opening with a speech praising

By dropping the textual amendments proposed by the more radical anti-league Senators, Republican leaders of the Senate today agreed to fall back upon qualifying or interpretive reservations in their efforts to prevent the ratification of

The peace treaty in its present form. They were still unable to agree, however, on the form the suggested reservations should take. It was learned, and the anti-league program could not be determined on.

The Republican anti-leaguers admitted that every move they had thus far made to unite those Senators who entertain a wide divergence of views regarding proposed reservations had met with failure.

Administration Senators declared that the anti-administration Senaiors would not be able to agree on reservations at any stage of the impending battle, and predict that the treaty will be ratified eventually without material change.

SATISFIED WILSON CAN MEET SILANTUNG OBJECTION

President Wilson discussed the peace treaty at some length today with Senators King, Utah, and McKellar, Tennessee, Democrats, who were among half a dozen White House callers. It was understood

The upper house has been taking a recess ever since Wilson presented the treaty, and many senators were eager today to have a hand in the early debate, which was expected to continue at intervals during the weeks the treaty will probably be before the committee.

One of the first moves opposed to the treaty and the league was expected to be the introduction by Senator Moses of a resolution requesting the president to attend daily sessions of the foreign relations committee, to give information about the Paris peace conference proceedings, thus preventing him from going on his country-wide speaking tour in support of the covenant.

PLANS SEVERAL STOPS ON PACIFIC COAST.

According to present tentative plans, it is learned the tour will start about July 23. The presidential party probably will not visit New York or New England. Cincinnati probably will be the first stop.

It is practically assured, it was learned, that speeches will be made at Indianapolis, Cleveland, Chicago, Kansas City, Wichita, St. Paul, Denver and at several cities on the Pacific coast. Invitations have been made to a large number of received from the cities, but none has been definitely accepted.

Protest against the Shantung settlement was read to the Senate today in the form of a petition offered by Senator Philips, Colorado.

The petition embodied a letter from a former resident of the Shantung district, Edward A. Tazgar, now living in America, declaring that China was "sold to Japan by a few unscrupulous officials in Peking."

If the Shantung settlement is adopted, it will be paved for Japan to absorb all of China, he stated. Japanese were referred to as "yellow Hung."

made a correction of previous testimony when he had said that Sheriff R. R. Veale of Contra Costa county had paid for the three meals there which Veale had had with the Nedderman party. He now stated that Veale had merely made the table payments, such as tips, and that the defendant had paid for the meals. Here Decoto said: SAYS THEY WERE INVITED BY SHERIFF

"You said before that Sheriff Veale, paying for the meals, invited Cockrell to dine with you all. If then, it was you who paid for the meals it must have been you who invited Cockrell. Is that not so?"

alleged to have conspired with certain shipbuilders of Seattle and vicinity to pass on and accept ships of the poorest quality and seaworthiness. By means of certain inspections construction on certain ships was held back while on the ships of the favored few of the inner circle, the work was rushed through.

SHIPS WORTHLESS. Speaking of two of the ships built by a certain corporation with a plant near here, a well-known shipbuilder, one of the most prominent men in financial circles in Seattle, declared that he inspected the ships while they were in drydock in Bremerton, and said:

"They would not even keep the bilge water in, much less keep the ocean out."

At least a score of secret service men are now in Seattle, working on the case. Some of the most expert men in the government employ are in the city, including H. A. Perch, a former expert, who is believed to have secured valuable evidence from fingerprints in the washroom where Dowsey's body was discovered.

ARRESTS EXPECTED. It is declared that affidavits are on file in Washington giving the names of men who endeavored to inveigle certain Portland shipbuilders into participation in their fraudulent practices. The probe now in progress is narrowing to a point where arrests may soon be expected. The alleged crime and gigantic fraud are intricately linked up in the probe now in progress and it has been pointed out that by no means all of those implicated in the latter possess any guilty knowledge of Dowsey's death.

As it is common gossip in shipbuilding circles that the huge steal runs into millions of dollars, it is also known that certain officials of the Emergency Fleet Corporation are "No, Veale invited him," Nedderman maintained. "The sheriff invited all of us. Then he paid the table charges except one, when Cockrell paid."

The cross-examination continued: Q. At Byron Hot Springs did you play cards only when Sheriff Veale was there?

A. I don't remember.

Q. If he did he didn't play often enough for it to have made any impression on me. I don't remember it. Did not Cockrell call with you besides the times when Veale was there?

A. I don't remember. My impression is that he did not.

Q. Was he at the bar with you?

A. Never alone.

Q. You are getting very cautious, Mr. Nedderman. Is it not true that you heard people in the bar call him by the name of Harry Hean?

A. I don't recall.

More recent events at Louis' Cafe on San Pablo avenue, where Nedderman and Cockrell are also said to have met, were reviewed. Again as on Thursday Decoto attempted to lead the witness to questions which Cockrell had been there longer than the five minutes to which Nedderman then testified, but without success. At Byron Hot Springs, said the witness in answer to questions, when there were automobile rides, the witness and Mrs. Nedderman occupied the front seat of the machine and Cockrell and Mrs. W. K. Nottingham the back seat.

Decoto reverted to the witness' conversation with Captain Charles H. Book, also a witness in the case. Nedderman said Book had come to him and told him of Captain Thorwald Brown's maid in Chinatown and that Brown was asking $100 a month from each house.

"Did you tell this to Commissioner Morse?" asked Decoto.

"I did," replied the former chief. "Did Captain Book tell you he thought he could 'arrange' things in Chinatown for you?" was asked, and the witness answered:

"Well, yes; he made a proposition to me."

"Did you tell that to Commissioner Morse?" Decoto demanded. "Did you file charges against Captain Book on that score?"

"IT WAS JUST HIS WORD AGAINST MINE." Nedderman said. "I did not."

"You," Nedderman said, "I did not when he made this offer. It was just his word against mine."

Nedderman said Hornum Loetz, manager of the Barbers' Club and chief witness for the state in the present trial, called him up soon after he took office and asked him to come to the Barbers' Club, which Nedderman said he did, in company with Policeman Hunt.

The witness could not remember just when he first met Dave Cockrell, but thought it was about a year ago. Decoto's question as to whether he had met Cockrell elsewhere than at Byron Springs, Louis' Cafe and his office, to which he had testified, met with objection by Crosby, which the court sustained. Decoto then returned to the matter of Nedderman's deposits in bank, first taking up the deposit of a salary check there in the following question:

"On January 4, 1916, in the First National Bank, you deposited $270. Where did you get that money?"

The matter was taken under consideration by Judge Quinn over the noon recess.

BUSINESS WOMEN WIRE PRESIDENT

The Business Women's Club of Alameda county, through its president, Miss Bessie J. Wood, this morning wired President Wilson and Senator Hiram Johnson an appeal to take action to bring about a speedy settlement of the telephone strike.

The telegram was based on the argument that by reason of a prolonged strike on the part of the switchboard operators business was being seriously hampered and injured.

An appeal for aid for the striking telephone operators was made in a public proclamation today by Mayor John L. Davis. His message follows:

"Oakland, Calif., July 14, 1919. To the Merchants and Business men of Oakland:

"The telephone strike has brought upon us many serious situations and one of the most important is the taking care of the striking operators who are in need."

MANY NEED FOOD. "I have been informed by a committee of representative women who are giving their time to this work that there are many telephone operators in this city in actual need of food, owing to their small pay of the past few days. Opportunity has been afforded the operators to prepare for such emergencies."

"You have always come to the front out of public spirit, and on this occasion I respectfully call upon you to donate food to relieve these girls from hunger. The actual work is being performed by a volunteer committee, and if you will express your willingness to give something to these girls, kindly communicate with my office and I will see that the girls in need are given the benefit of your generosity."

"Very truly yours,
"Mayor of the City of Oakland."

Francis J. Heney's Brother, 74, Is Dead

CIPERTINO, July 14.—Richard Heney, brother of Francis J. Heney, a wealthy orchardist of this section, died yesterday at his home on the Homestead road at Simla station. He had been ill for several months.

Heney was married and the father of nine children, all living. He was born in Lima, Livingston county, New York, and was 74 years of age. Funeral arrangements are being made today.

Seamen Say 30,000 Will Strike Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Seamen's union officials today asserted that 30,000 seamen would be on strike by tomorrow noon, according to information received at the shipping board here. The strikers want employment of Americans first, wage increase of $15 a month, and an 8-hour day.

CRITIC VALUES PICTURES AT CANVAS COST

The court room of Judge T. W. Harris was today an art gallery and Art Expert E. H. Frick was there giving valuations of the works of the Oakland artist, David Russell. The pictures are the subject of litigation between Russell and H. H. Schmidt, the latter suing for their possession. Schmidt values them at $800 and Russell values them at $15,000. The critic valued them at the price of the canvases.

One of the pictures is a copy of the famous Metropolitan canvas, "The Horse Fair," by Rosa Bonheur. The original is worth $500,000, and the critic valued the copy at the cost of the canvas. He explained that a student would make an exact copy of the original at from $150 to $500, on order, and if the student is a good artist the copy would be exact, whereas he said the present picture was not a correct copy and consequently of no value.

The canvas is about five by ten feet and the expert in arriving at the value computed the yardage.

ARTIST EXPLAINS VALUES. Another picture that came in for severe criticism was done from a photograph of the famous redwood through which a stage coach is being driven. The critic said that $25. The artist had placed a value of $500 on it.

Frick designated the collection of 20 or more as "pot boilers," none of which have any commercial value to mention. One marine scene he said was fairly well done and indicated that the artist should have devoted himself to water scenes, whereas he had done forest and landscapes almost entirely. The critic said that most of the pictures could be duplicated by a good sign painter at so much per day, and that any of them would require from a day to two days' work.

Other critics will look at the pictures from the viewpoint of the artist and doubtless tell a different story, Frick being a witness for Schmidt.

Mrs. Ella Miller and her daughter, Mrs. Edith E. Black Mecum, are co-defendants and cross-complainants with Russell. On the stand both Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Mecum testified that they are clairvoyants and they detected the presence of spirits in the court room. Judge Harris demanded to know who the spirits were but they would not materialize so their identity could be determined.

ART SCHOOL VAGUE. Judge Harris questioned the art expert closely to determine whether or not the pictures really did possess a hidden value, whether in fact they do not belong to an individual school, like the impressionist school, for instance, but the critic said they belonged to no art school, individual or otherwise. He said the pictures were distinctly not of the impressionist school notwithstanding the fact that they were devoid of detail.

Schmidt took possession of the paintings on a receipt slip, alleging that he furnished the money for the artist to work on them and that he had done his part and had paid Schmidt recently recovered a judgment against Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Mecum for $80,000 on account of a mining deal.

During the proceedings while the art expert was lambasting the paintings the artist stood around wearing a most disdainful expression. Some of the expert's criticisms made him smile, and sometimes he shook his head sadly. He will have his say when his friends testify, and then it will be up to Judge Harris to settle the controversy by determining what the values really are.

ALKALINS TO SPEAK AT LAUNCHING

ALAMEDA, July 14.—Mayor Frank Otis, chairman of the Liberty Bond committee, announced today that J. G. Calkins, governor of the Federal reserve bank in San Francisco and secretary of the board of directors of the Pacific coast, would speak at the launching of the City of Alameda next Thursday. His address will be brief in order not to delay the appointed moment of launching.

Mayor Otis will appear in the dual role of the mayor of Alameda and of chairman of the Liberty Loan committee. He will be the city's honor of naming a government ship.

Apparently there will be no formal invitations issued unless the Bethlehem Corporation issues the special "bills" for the city. The ship will be launched at 10 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

With the launching will be staged the presentation of a banner to the Bethlehem plant, and of a banner to the city, the home coming reception and the Alameda Chamber of Commerce in recognition of the band's service for the community. The large City Auditor F. J. Croll will make the banner presentation. The band will play at the launching.

German Rich Face Big Exactions Erzberger Will Raise Millions

LONDON, July 14.—Mathias Erzberger, German minister of finance, expects to raise ninety millions of marks by levies on capital, precious stones and metals, according to a special dispatch today from the Daily Chronicle's correspondent at Weimar. Any sum over 20,000 marks will be regarded as "capital" for purposes of taxation.

The first payments are due in January. Persons taxed may remain in debt to the state for thirty years.

During which time 5 per cent will be charged toward paying off the war loan. Government stock will be accepted as payment.

COUNTY NETS BIG PROFIT ON JARS

Today for the first time in the history of the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county, according to the best memory of the oldest inhabitants, a sale of material was made at a profit. The board sold thirty-six museum jars at $8 each, which they purchased some years ago at $4.10 a piece. How it happened no one can explain, further than that C. G. Dorsey offered the money. The theory is that the price of jars has gone up. The board had them on hand, stored away in the basement of the courthouse, and the members felt that at last they had undoubtedly done something worthy of their high calling.

A resolution was adopted calling upon Congress to establish on the Pacific coast the proposed naval academy. The resolution called for the attention of Congress to the necessity for such an institution and to the advisability of locating it on this coast, where the future naval development is expected to be. There was no discussion of the subject, the resolution being introduced at the request of those furthering the project.

Cousin Engineer Perry A. Haviland sent to the board a letter recommending acceptance of the highway built by Bates & Borsland from Warm Springs to Irvington, the work having been completed according to contract.

Find $5000 Worth of Drugs on Small Boat

At Fong, 318 Franklin street, is under arrest, awaiting further investigation by the state pharmacy board officials, and more than $5000 worth of illicit narcotics are in the hands of the police, as the result of a raid last night on a small barge.

The Chinese, when arrested, by Angel Fratt, inspector for the state board of pharmacy, told the officials of the existence of the barge, and said that he had purchased the morphine, opium and other narcotics found on it from a white man whose name he did not know. Search is being made for the unknown vendor.

STRIKERS CLASH WITH GUARDS IN ILLINOIS RIOTS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Two women and a man were seriously injured today when strikers at the plant of the Corn Products Refining Company, at Argo, Ill., stopped street cars carrying non-union men and clashed with guards.

A crowd of more than 1000 strikers and their sympathizers attempted to block the trolley cars filled with employees en route to the plant. There were twenty armed guards of the company on the cars and a number of shots were fired. It was the first violence reported in the village since the riot last Tuesday night, when three persons were killed and more than a score wounded.

There was a clash between strikers and guards in front of the Argo hospital.

Treaty Fight Opened in Senate Swanson Argues for World League Debate May Continue for Weeks

of equal representation. If members were accorded difference in the representation, upon what basis should the apportionment be made? If upon population, China and India would dominate the league, and the United States would have only one-fifth of the number. If based upon wealth and military power, the situation would be equally as uncertain and unsatisfactory.

PLAN MUST HAVE CONGRESS SANCTION

"What better plan for disarmament could be devised? The council is directed to prepare a general plan of disarmament for the consideration of the governments, which plan is not binding upon any of the states until approved by that state. Under our government, the proposed plan to be effective in binding us must have the sanction of Congress, which is entrusted under the constitution with power of raising armies and equipping the navy."

"Under Article 10 each member of the league undertakes, first, to respect the territorial integrity and political independence of all other members of the league. When the nations of the world, sobered by sorrow and suffering, are willing to raise their heads and take this solemn pledge, are we suddenly and stubbornly to stand aside and become a stumbling block in the way of this noble achievement? Do any of them have possessions that we view with covetous eyes and propose to seize and annex?"

THREATENED TO MEMBERS

"The second obligation assumed by each member is to 'preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league.' This is a natural corollary from the first. In the former we undertake not to rob our associates ourselves, and in this we agree not to permit others to do so. This guarantee of territorial integrity and political independence is limited to those cases where they are threatened or attacked by external aggression, and does not apply to revolution within a nation. A nation's internal affairs are left undisturbed. Nationality with its vital stimulating patriotism, would be preserved, given new life and opportunity."

"Thoughtful persons recognize the importance of giving such a guarantee now, at least for a limited period, if the peace of the world is to be maintained. The autocratic governments that controlled Russia, Germany, Austria and Turkey have been overthrown, but as yet no real, stable governments established. Some of the new states created out of this immense territory, without the guaranty of the league, would be overthrown and would return to the domination of their former oppressors."

U. S. CAN WITHDRAW AT END OF TWO YEARS

"Elihu Root, former secretary of state, recognized the great immediate need of this article and recommended its acceptance with an amendment providing that any member, could after expiration of five years from the signing of the covenant, terminate its obligations under the article. But under this covenant the United States by giving notice of her withdrawal from the league, can limit her obligations to a time not to exceed two years. If this treaty is ratified, the United States can fully perform her obligation to her allies, discharge her duties to the new nations she has aided in creating, and then honorably retire."

"It should be noted that when in this article we guarantee the territorial integrity of all members of the league we receive at the same time from all of them a like guarantee of our territorial possessions. The Philippine Islands have occasioned us great apprehension. In order to safeguard these islands it will be necessary for us in the present disturbed condition of the world to construct the largest navy afloat and have an army equal to that of any nation. Shall we embark upon this great military expense or accept the league and with it the honorable pledge that Great Britain and Japan, the only two nations from which the islands could ever be threatened, would aid in preserving them from all external aggression?"

PANAMA CANAL AND ISLANDS AFFECTED

"We should also reflect that the Panama canal and the islands owned by us in the Caribbean Sea are outlying territories. Is our hold upon the canal lessened or strengthened by this article?"

"The article provides 'in case of any such aggression the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled.' The unanimous recommendation of the council is only advisory. Thus under Article 10 no troops of the United States could be sent to engage in war without the advice of her representative in the council and the approval of her congress."

Answering objections to the article affecting the Monroe Doctrine, which guarantees the validity of engagements "such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine for securing the maintenance of peace," Senator Swanson declared the article undoubtedly made a "clear explicit reservation" of the doctrine.

SAYS MONROE DOCTRINE WOULD TAKE PRECEDENCE

"If any conflict should arise between the provisions of the covenant and the Monroe Doctrine," he said, "as far as we are concerned, the provisions of the covenant are annulled and the Monroe Doctrine survives. We accept the covenant with this clear reservation."

Objections that the doctrine is not properly described in the article, Swanson declared unfounded.

"President Roosevelt in his annual message of 1917," he continued, "in speaking of the Monroe Doctrine said, 'It is simply a step and a long step towards assuring the universal peace of the world by securing the possibility of permanent peace upon this hemisphere.' He distinctly limits the doctrine to the western hemisphere and commends it for securing the maintenance of peace."

Navy Coal Passer Now Millionaire

NEW YORK, July 14.—A "millionaire stoker" with two years and five months' naval service to complete before his enlistment runs out, arrived on the transport Imperator in the person of E. L. Perkins of Eastland, Tex. Oil discovered on his farm, which his father is running for him, will give him an income of $1,000,000 a year, he was told in a message from the Elder Perkins, received just before the big transport left for Brazil previous trip. Young Perkins enlisted in the Navy in December, 1917, was assigned to the transport service and later was sent into the Imperator's engine room for duty as a coal passer. The coal passer millionaire will not try to get out of his enlistment, he said, and will use the money for the benefit of the world and Christianity.

Single Fig Tree Is $200 Crop Producer

PORTERVILLE, Cal., July 14.—A single tree of Capri figs situated in an orange orchard here purchased recently by the Rev. A. H. Zahl, retired pastor of the Emmanuel Evangelical Church, netted the owner $200 in one season. It became known recently. Rev. Zahl discovered the tree situated in a corner of the orchard and covered with the Capri figs, necessary for the production of the fig. He later secured a crop of 2000 pounds from the tree which he sold for 1 cent a pound.

VIENNA, Saturday, July 12. (By The Associated Press).—The Ukrainians will never give in to the Poles, who are advancing into their country, according to a message received here from Terniky, premier of the Ukrainian government of General Petlura. He added that the Ukrainians would not join a Russian federation.

"Overrun by Russians, Germans, Poles and Bolsheviks, the fate of the Ukraine is worse than that of Belgium," the premier's message said. "We also are fighting an epidemic, but we will have liberty if it takes twenty years."

VIENNA, Saturday, July 12.—(By The Associated Press).—Borne, recently the scene of disorders between Italian and French troops, is quiet with the Italian provost marshal maintaining order, according to reports received here. Few Italian soldiers are seen on the street. The French remain in their barracks and come out only to drill. Two French and two Italian warships are anchored in the harbor.

The city, it is said, is plastered with handbills reading, "Italy or death." The signs on buildings and streets in the Jugo-Slav language have been removed.

Labor Troubles in Japan Are Reported

TOKYO, July 15.—Labor troubles are taking place in Japan. At a gold mine in Shizuoka prefecture 100 miners went on strike recent and, armed with pickaxes and shovels, raided the residences of mine officials and destroyed or damaged the buildings and furniture. The local police force suppressed the rioters. The cause of the trouble is dissatisfaction over wages.

Over 1000 women and g. s. employed in a big silk factory at Uyeda have gone on strike for higher wages. Similar occurrences are reported from various parts of the empire. One cause of the unrest is the soaring of rice, which is now higher than last summer, when the country was involved in serious rice disturbances.

The Summer Servant Question Solved

Electric Appliances Perform Many Sided Service in the Household.

Whether you have a servant or not, housework will be greatly simplified if you will begin to make use of the electricity available at every switch.

The shortage and high cost of domestic labor, particularly during the summer months when the orchards and canneries offer more flattering inducements for female occupation, make it necessary for the housewife to give more of her attention to the routine household duties.

Electric Vacuum Cleaners, Washing Machines and Irons

are only three of the electrical servants you can put into service by merely pressing a button. Each are necessary for the proper and efficient running of any household, and each will enable you to enjoy a much greater degree of domestic independence than ever before. They perform the routine duties of the home in less than one-third the time, without any of the inconvenience, back-breaking labor or drudgery of the old-style methods of keeping house.

Every housewife should have these three appliances. Your electrical contractor-dealer will tell you how easily they may be purchased and how your expenditure will be more than repaid in a very short period by the help and laundry money and physical labor saved. Your electrical dealer will gladly demonstrate. Ask him.

ABOUT TO GIVE UP WORK, HE STATES

Oakland Man Could Find Nothing to Help Him—"Tanlac Made Life Worth Living"

"I tried all kinds of medicines and treatments for my trouble, but nothing ever took away the relief that 'Tanlac' gave me," said E. D. Shreve of 708 Harrison street, Oakland, Calif., to a Tanlac representative, recently. Mr. Shreve is employed by the Southern Pacific railroad in Oakland and has been in his present position for the past five years.

"When I started taking Tanlac I had a very good deal of trouble with my stomach," continued Mr. Shreve. "I didn't have any appetite to speak of and it just seemed like everything I would eat would sour and turn gas, and I would feel like I had a knot of some kind in my stomach. It certainly was a miserable feeling and when these spells would be on me I would feel like I had a heavy headache and would be so nervous at times that the least little thing would upset me completely and I would be awfully irritable. This gas in my stomach would also get up around my heart and cause it to palpitate so badly that I would feel like I could hardly get my breath, and I wouldn't be able to sleep good, either, and when I would get up I would feel so tired and so count that I could hardly keep going. I took all sorts of things in the hope of finding some relief, but nothing seemed to reach my case and I got to where I realized that if I didn't find something pretty soon that would help me, I would just have to lay off from my work."

"It was while I was feeling this way that I began taking Tanlac and it seemed to give me relief almost from the start, so I kept on taking it, and I certainly have a mighty fine appetite now and nothing I eat hurts me the least bit. I am seldom bothered with gas on my stomach and hardly ever have a headache and my nerves are in good shape again and I can sleep like a log and get up feeling fine and ready for work. For forty years I had been troubled with malaria and when I went down into Mexico about eleven years ago as a mining engineer and assayer, this trouble got worse and it also bothered me a lot after I got back to the States, but after this Tanlac got my stomach in such good shape I was surprised to find that every sign of the malaria just seemed to have disappeared. Tanlac has simply made life worth living to me now and I am glad to recommend it to others that may be suffering like I did."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company stores.—Advertisement.

FRENCH ENJOY TWO VICTORY CELEBRATIONS

The anniversary of the Fall of the Bastille has inspired two elaborate celebrations, this year, the French colony of the Eastbay cities finding Victory holiday a name for the occasion. Literary and musical exercises were held yesterday afternoon in Lakeside Park, Pierre A. Fontaine delivering the patriotic oration to hundreds of his countrymen. American citizens who assembled to pay homage to the nation overseas.

Fontaine was introduced by Mayor John L. Davis. He paid a glowing tribute to the work of the United States in the world war and emphasized the friendship which exists between this country and France.

The Municipal Band, under the direction of Paul Steindorf, presented a program of French music.

WEILL CHAIRMAN.

Raphael Weill, the 31-year-old veteran who returned last week from three years' war service in France, where he received distinguished decorations, is chairman of the day at the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco where the French colony in northern California united today in a brilliant celebration. Weill is assisted by the French Consul General Julien Nelson.

The 195 names of the local men who fell in battle were read at the literary exercises early this afternoon before the singing of the "Marseillaise." Addresses were delivered by Chairman Weill, Mayor James Rolph and John McNaught. "A Chant for Victory," an original poem written by Edward Robeson Taylor, was read by Marjorie Rumbold, the well known Broadway star who formerly was a leading lady in one of the Oakland playhouses.

MUSICAL PROGRAM. "Soldier's Chorus" from "Gounod's 'Faust'" were played by Edward Lemare, the city organist. Other musical numbers included: "Quand Madelon," the famous marching song of France, the "Star-Spangled Banner," and "Sambre et Meuse," sung by Mme. Richard Rees; "Salut a la France," sung by Mlle. Julie Cotte; and selections from "Mignon" sung by Julie Lancel.

The following officers have been in charge of the arrangements: Raphael Weill, president; Lieutenant Paul Verdier, vice-president; Lieutenant Michel Weill, vice-president; Pierre J. Ives, vice-president; J. Mellette, vice-president; Pierre Chanquat, treasurer; M. Andrieux, financial secretary; George Tussier, recording secretary.

A grand ball will be given in the Municipal Auditorium in San Francisco tonight, the proceeds to be used as a benefit to the French relief fund.

Chases Thief Who Fled With Trousers

Attracted by tempting sweets in the window of a grocery at 928 Castro street, an unidentified boy early yesterday morning broke the glass and endeavored to carry away syrup, peas, coffee and other canned goods. Frightened by the crash, however, the lad fled without the foodstuffs, but not before he had been seen by neighbors. The boy was fully dressed, according to the story of those living in the neighborhood, except for shoes and stockings. If K. Miller, the grocer, and his family, who reside in the rear of the store, were not aware of the attempted burglary until daylight. No trace of the juvenile burglar has been found.

P. N. Rodgers, 1100 Fourth avenue, figured in a midnight chase for burglars, when, very negligee, he pursued his trousers, which were in the hands of a burglar. He succeeded in recovering the stolen raiment, but failed to catch the burglar. Rodgers awoke to hear a noise in his room. Switching on the light, he discovered that a burglar was leaving by a window, carrying his trousers. Rodgers gave chase. The burglar dropped the trousers and fled. The thief took $3.80 in change from the pockets.

No Trace Found o Alleged Bank Bandit

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—County detectives had no trace today of Lewis B. Harris, alleged ringleader of the Artesia bank bandits, who summed the jail key cabinet yesterday and walked unobserved to freedom. Harris was to have faced trial Wednesday. ANTI-SUFFRAGE LEADERS REPLY TO W. J. BRYAN

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The National Association opposed to Woman Suffrage has announced that it had set out to obtain the defeat of the woman suffrage amendment by at least thirteen states. It has issued a challenge to William Jennings Bryan to prove statements that he was quoted as making in an address at Montgomery, Alabama, that ratification of the federal woman suffrage amendment would be a "sure guarantee of continued and lasting peace," and that the "forces of evil are lined up against the ballot for women."

In answer to the first statement by Mr. Bryan, the association declared Germany had been given "great consolation" by the Woman's International Congress at Zurich, attended by a number of American suffragette advocates. Reply to the second assertion, the association said that there was no connection between suffrage and such cases, and intimating that he expected the Oakland police to take action here on the hold-up charge.

PROBATION FOR YOUTH OPPOSED

The Oakland police opposed vigorously any move to grant probation to Earl Nash, held in San Jose on a charge of stealing a motorcycle and charged in Oakland with holding up and robbing George Perry, a taxi cab driver, on the boulevard and stealing his auto. After the Perry robbery, the police say, the youth stole a motorcycle and was captured in San Jose.

Held in San Jose on the motorcycle charge the youth, through his attorneys, has applied for probation. Superior Judge Bensley of the Santa Clara county court sent to Oakland for a recommendation from the local police, at the same time stating that he did not believe in probation in such cases, and intimating that he expected the Oakland police to take action here on the hold-up charge.

"I concur with the judge," Captain Walter J. Petersen said today. "There is a question on the motorcycle case as to whether this county or Santa Clara has jurisdiction, although the boy is being held at

Girls' BEDTIME STORY

(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Uncle Wiggly, I wish you would go to the store for me, and bring back a jug of vinegar," said Nurse Jane Fussy one morning.

"I shall be very glad to," answered the rabbit gentleman, as he gave his automobile a drink of gasoline. "But speaking of vinegar, I hope you are not going to make pickled onions. I can stand almost anything except onions."

"I know it!" laughed Nurse Jane. "But don't worry! I am not going to pickle any onions. I want to make some pickled beets."

"Then it's all right," spoke Uncle Wiggly, with a sigh of relief. "I'll hurry right down to the store and get the vinegar for you, Nurse Jane."

In a little while Uncle Wiggly was ready, and away he started in his automobile, which had a turnip for a steering wheel, and his beetroot sausages for tires.

As he rode through the woods Uncle Wiggly saw a headless lady trying to jump over a fence that was quite too high for her. Every time she jumped she would drop her toasted onions.

"Oh, allow me to help you, Mrs. Hippity," spoke Uncle Wiggly to the headless lady. "Don't try to jump the fence. Why don't you go around by the gate?"

"It's so far," answered Mrs. Hippity. "I'm in a hurry to get home."

"Then hop in my auto, Mrs. Hippity," invited Uncle Wiggly. "I'll ride you around to the gate."

So the headless lady did this and she had no more trouble, and she was very thankful to Uncle Wiggly, and as she was he stopped at the fence gate to let her out.

"Oh, I am always glad when I can do any one a favor," spoke Uncle Wiggly. Then he rode away in his auto once more, and soon he was at the vinegar store.

It was while he was on his way home to his hollow stump bungalow, with the vinegar for Nurse Jane to use on the pickled beets, that the rabbit gentleman had an adventure.

Of a sudden he was riding along, he heard from behind a doodleberry bush the voice of some one sadly saying:

"Oh, dear! I cannot carry it a step farther! My feet are so tired and my fingers are all ruffled up. If I could only swim the rest of the way it would be all right; but I have to walk!"

"That's trouble, all right," said Uncle Wiggly, as he stopped his auto and listened. "Yes, it's trouble, but who is it? I don't know, but I don't believe it can be the Bazooka, for he hasn't any feathers, even if his white nose is so fluffy. I'll take a peep and be ready to hurry away if it's the Pipsisewah, or any one like that."

Uncle Wiggly looked through the bushes and, to his surprise, he saw Lulu Wigglesworth, the nice duck girl, sitting beside a large head of cabbage.

"Why, Lulu! What's the matter?" asked the rabbit.

"The matter is that this cabbage head is too heavy for me to carry any farther," answered Lulu. "Mother sent me to the store to buy a cabbage, but I could roll it home, when I saw how large and heavy it was. But when I tried that way, it hurt my back, and I knew mother wouldn't like that. So I tried to carry the cabbage, only it's so heavy I can't."

"I could swim and float it in the water ahead of me if the duck pond were here. But it isn't, and I don't know what to do," sighed poor Lulu.

"Well, I know what to do!" laughed Uncle Wiggly. "Just get in my auto and I'll ride you, and the cabbage head, also, to your house."

"Oh, thank you, so much!" quacked Lulu.

Soon she was sitting back in a soft seat, and the head of cabbage was on the floor of the auto, both of them having a nice ride.

"Here is a loaf of cabbage. If you would like to nibble it, Uncle Wiggly," said Lulu, as she took off one of the outside ones.

"I'll eat it a little later, thank you," replied Mr. Longears. "I can't very well nibble cabbage and steer my auto. A little later, Lulu."

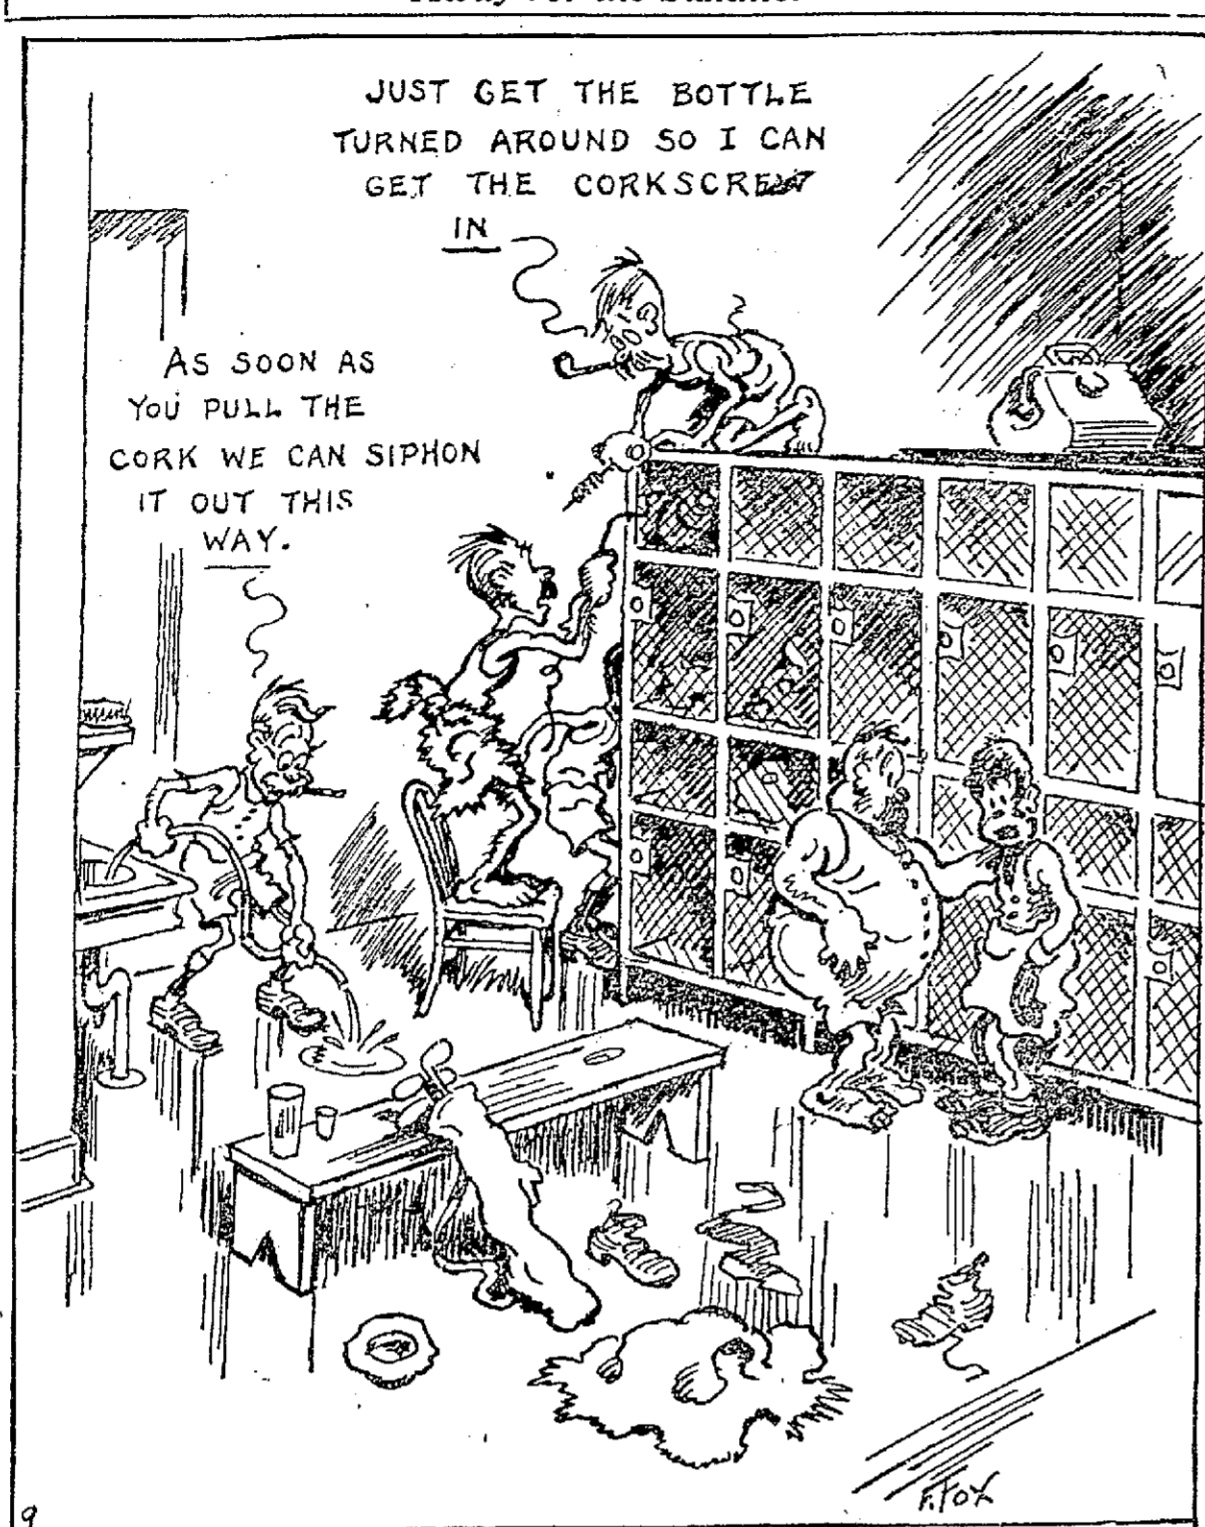

"No, not a little later! Right now is when I am going to nibble some of your ears!" cried a sudden, sharp, harsh voice from beside the road, and out jumped the bad old Pipsisewah.

"You got away from the Bazooka, but you aren't smart enough to get away from me," boasted the Pipsisewah. "I shall have your ears!"

"You shall not!" suddenly quacked Lulu. "You think we aren't smart enough to get away from you, do you?"

Three heads are better than two, even if one is only a cabbage head! With that the duck girl picked up the head of cabbage and threw it at the Pipsisewah. It struck him full and plumb on his broad nose.

"Oh, wow! Oh, wow! Oh, wow!" cried the Pipsisewah, just like that. "I've had enough," he said. "You have too many heads for me! Away he ran, and Uncle Wiggly got up and picked up the cabbage, which was now the worse for being thrown at the Pipsisewah. Then the rabbit gentleman took Lulu home and went home himself with the vinegar, and he was very glad he had met the duck girl.

And if the peanut butter isn't too proud to sit beside the strawberry shortcake, when they take a long ride on the clothes horse, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and Alice's relations.

George Washingtons Embarrass Jailer

"George Washington" was too well represented today on the city jail lineup list for efficient book-keeping. That's why Jailer Jack Murphy has added middle names to the two namesakes of the father of their country at the present time in duration.

The George Washington under arrest on a burglary charge has been christened "George Lincoln Washington," and the George Washington arrested on a gambling charge, is now listed as "George Pershing Washington." This keeps the book straightened out, according to the jailer.

Both men are colored. They were arrested last night, and have been assigned to different police courts.

Winifred Black FOLKS AND THINGS

Writes about

"No," said one of the Sweetest Women, "I can't afford the seashore this year, nor yet the mountains. A n d gasoline is too high to let us take the camping trip we'd planned, so I'm going on a certain vacation."

"A certain vacation?" I repeated, vaguely. "By that you mean—a just exactly—"

One of the Sweetest Women Laughed.

"No, it isn't a new bit of slang," she said. "Nor even a new idea. It's just a new way of naming an old situation."

"One time, some years ago, when the oldest boy had the grippe—that was before the 'flu' was the fashion—and the youngest had had a siege with the dentist, and husband's biggest creditor failed, and the little inheritance we were looking for went to an 'in-law' who didn't know what on earth to do with it, husband and I were miserable."

"One day I was sitting on the porch wishing I could be waited away in a sweet chariot somewhere, anywhere, out of this world of worries and a man arrived in an express van, and in that express van were some parcels for us."

"The relative who didn't leave us the money did leave us some things, and nice, useful, attractive things they were, too."

"A little porch set, of two chairs and a table, wicker and awfully pretty, three rugs, a picture and a lovely big, green jug with ridiculous handles. She left these things to me because I was the only one of the family on one of her porches, and serve tea from the wicker table, and that was how my husband first saw me."

"Well, I unpacked those things and laughed over them and cried over them. How well I remembered just exactly the way husband looked when he stood on the steps with his straw hat in his hand and said, 'Yes, thank you, he would take them in his hand, he'd care for one of the little cakes with frosting on it, if I didn't mind. I could just see the sun shining on that mop of hair of his—he used to part it in the middle; that was the thing those days—and I thought he had the most wonderful voice in the world, and eyes—oh, well, never mind that. I thought about it all the time. I saw the little wicker table, and the porch rug and the green jug. I went back in my mind—and I wanted to run right to the telephone and call him up and tell him how to work up another minute about the vacation, and we'd have one right at home."

"We had dinner on the porch, with two of his favorite dishes, and when I served them he looked at me and said, 'You're a real home body, and I like you. I don't mind, oh, how I don't mind! And we got out the old banjo, and I played "Swing Home" and "Old Time in the Old Town" and all the things that were the rage the summer I first met him. And you know, we had a perfectly lovely vacation. Husband stayed at home from the office and we read and played cards, and he got acquainted with the boys and they took him for tramps, and it was the greatest fun in the world."

"The two boys are away at college now; they're not coming home this summer. One's taking a course at the summer school and the other is gone up into Maine with one of his classmates, so I've hunted up the old set of curtains we had when we came home from our honeymoon. I put them away when we had the house done over and I'm going to put them up again, and paint the little old wicker table, and get some of the old books out, poems and things, and husband and I are going to have a vacation that is a vacation."

"We're going to forget about worries and disappointments and disillusion; we're going to read aloud and play cards, yes, I'm even going to get out the banjo, and we're going to live up the roses and the honeysuckle, in the old-fashioned curtains."

"I'm crazy to see one of the Sweetest Women two weeks from now and ask her how the vacation turned out. Isn't it queer? And I never even thought of asking her about one of her trips to Europe, before."

I didn't seem to be especially interested.

But this time—

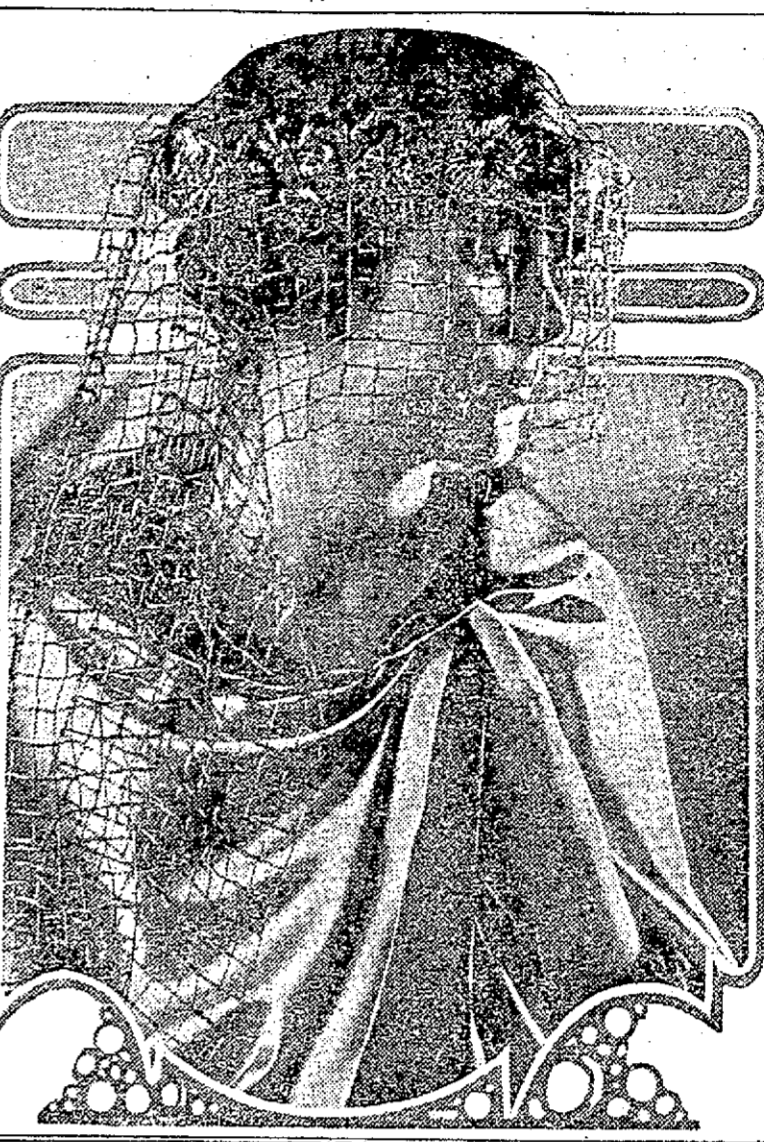

"Cheap" tea isn't cheap, not really; it makes fewer cups per pound than good tea, and you don't even get what you pay for—the rich full-flavor of fine tea. You do get tannin, which is bad for the health.

Your really cheap tea is Schilling Tea. It costs only 1/2 cent per cup, and you get what you pay for—the true tea-taste.

There are four flavors of Schilling Tea—Japan, Ceylon, India, Ceylon, English Breakfast. All one quality, in parchment-lined moisture-proof packages. At grocers everywhere.

THE PLUGGER

He isn't very brilliant and his pace is often slow. There's nothing very flashy in his style. He has to dig and labor for the things he wants to know. He's busy learning something all the while. The clever men go by him in a hurry day by day. And the stars get all the mention and the fame. But the patient, steady plugger in a thorough sort of way. Keeps on going and he gets there just the same.

He's a quiet sort of fellow and he's backward in his speech. You'll never find him clamoring for applause. He will listen to another who has anything to teach. And he never wastes his working time for a cause. He may take a little longer with the task he has to do. But the genius whose talents seem to run. But you'll find the patient plugger at the finish coming through. And there's merit in his labor when it's done.

He is slow in getting started, he must know the reasons why. Certain things occur within a certain way. There is nothing in his method to attract the passer-by. And at times you'd think he's wasted many a day. But when brilliant men have faded, and the stars have lost their light. When the clever men have stumbled in despair. When the great have come to failure with the goal they sought in sight. You'll find the patient plugger getting there.

Revelations of a Wife

by Adele Garrison

I couldn't resist the temptation to send a little barbed shaft in Cousin Agatha's direction, especially as she appeared to be waiting for Katie before starting back to the house.

"Aren't you afraid Mother Graham may be in need of something?" I queried innocently. "You know how impatient she is if she should call and have no answer."

WHAT KATIE SAID.

"Yes, I must be hurrying back," she replied meekly, then sent a return shaft of her own as she descended the stairs. "I'm afraid poor Cousin Harriet would get very indifferent care, call many times without answering if she didn't have her poor old faithful kinswoman with her."

Katie shook an irrepressible fist after her retreating back. I pretended not to see her, but I couldn't ignore her whispering comment.

"Don't old devil, I wish she fall over herself vunce. I like to beat her oop good."

"Katie," I said sternly, "If I ever hear language like that from you again I shall—"

"Discharge you," were the words upon my lips; then I remembered the voluntary promise I had made to Jim, Katie's husband, when he was enlisted in the army. "I will take care of Katie and the little one that is coming, and keep them safe for you when you return," I had said. I could make no threat of discharge to Katie, but I had to reprove her ebullience in some way.

"Punish you," I finished lamely.

Katie looked wide-eyed and troubled at me for a moment. Then she giggled, and her irrepressible chatter began.

"You do? You take steak to me, or put me to bed no things to eat?" she asked, then suddenly sobered at sight of my face.

"Fleece, dear Miss Graham, no be made by me. I had girl, talk dot way, but ven dot old cousin-vomans say, dose mean tings to you I could keep."

She raised her arms above her head in a sudden passionate gesture, then lowered them, and quickly turning, hurried down the steps and out of the door. I watched her, troubled, for a while, but I never saw her again.

Katie's turbulent, undisciplined nature, I always had the same uneasy feeling concerning her that I would have had were a package of high explosive near me.

I turned to William, who was still standing in the corner where he had gone to escape Cousin Agatha's ministrations. In one hand he still held the end of the bandage she had started to undo. His sudden movement, together with her loosening of the bandage, had started the blood to flowing again in that particular cut. I saw that what part of my work would have to be done over again.

When I had finished the rebandaging, and William was once more resting, I turned to him and said, "I have insisted, although he protested his complete recovery, I waited, with nervous, constricted throat, for his revelations concerning Grace Draper."

"I think I would be too good for that there Draper girl," William began dramatically.

"What do you mean, William?" I asked as he came to a full stop.

U.S. OPENS ITS FIGHT AGAINST BEER MAKERS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—The criminal prosecution of the Rainier Brewing Company and its president and vice-president, Louis Hennrich and Richard Sames, arrested to test the wartime prohibition act and its violation by the Rainier company and its sale and manufacture of beer containing an alcoholic content greater than one-half of one per cent, was made the subject of a demurrer, which alleged fatal defects in the information which charged the men, by Attorney Theodore A. Bell before Federal Judge William H. Sawtelle today.

Attorney Bell alleged that the information sworn to by U. S. Attorney, did not state facts which constituted an offense against the State or its laws in that the beer manufactured by the Rainier company and its officers was intoxicating.

FEDERAL REPLY.
Deputy Attorney Frank M. Silva, representing the government, held in his answer to the demurrer, made by Bell with the filing of the demurrer, that it was not necessary for the government to allege that the Rainier's product was intoxicating as the war act provided that "no beer, wine or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquor shall be manufactured or sold for beverage purposes except for export."

The matter followed the filing of points and authorities by Attorney Bell and Silva for the government and upon Judge Sawtelle's decision Hennrich and Sames will enter pleas of not guilty to the charge.

BELL'S SPEECH BITTER.
Attorney Bell was especially bitter in his denunciation of the wartime prohibition act which he said, "had been put over on the country as a prohibition measure which had been camouflaged as a food conservation proclamation and was the exercise of police powers over the people of the United States and an invidious and dangerous attack upon the constitution and exclusive right of the state. The enforcing of this law," Bell said, "is the perpetration of a fraud on the people of the United States and an invidious and dangerous attack upon the constitution."

The defendants are basing their defense upon a dissenting opinion upon the granting of a demurrer in a similar case by Federal Judge Rose of Baltimore in an action against the Standard Brewing company there.

CALLS WRONG NAME; DEMAND FOR $40 FINE

The first demand for the $40 fine allowed in the council's rules of order for improper talk before the council was demanded today by Commissioner W. J. Baccus. Clerk L. W. Cummings, in calling the roll, involuntarily called the name "Jackson" instead of "Baccus," from long custom while Commissioner P. F. Jackson was in office.

"I move he be fined forty dollars," interrupted Baccus. However, it wasn't done.

The council today passed on routine street work, referred to the budget committee's plans for new fire mains on Fourteenth street from Oak to Market with intersections, and on the rules for the installation of new tungsten lamps on streets being lighted by the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways under their new franchise, and passed routine claims.

Republicans Boost Lowden for President

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Republicans of the middle west have agreed on Governor Frank B. Lowden of Illinois as their candidate for president. Representative Frank L. Smith, chairman of the Illinois State Republican Committee, declared here today.

"We offer him, not as a favorite son, but as a man big enough for the job," Smith said in a statement, which claimed that the people of the country feel certain the Republicans will be successful in the next general election.

Manheim, Mazor Specialty Shop to Be Enlarged

From top to bottom: PAUL B. MANHEIM, MORRIS MAZOR, MILTON MAZOR.

Total of 2250 Square Feet to Be Added to Store; Big Sale Announced

Increase in selling space and the enlargement of many lines are announced by the firm of Manheim & Mazor for their exclusive woman's specialty shop, on Clay street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth.

Workmen are busy remodeling the third floor to make ready for the line of new fall garments being purchased by Manheim, who is now in New York. In all, 2250 square feet of selling space will be added when the alterations are complete. There will be more room, as a result, for the suit, coat and dress department.

The firm has announced an expansion sale, to clean out the present stock in preparation for the fall arrivals.

The Manheim & Mazor store has grown rapidly since it started in 1901 with two small rooms at Twelfth and Washington streets. The present three-story building that it occupies was built for the firm.

The company comprises Paul B. Manheim, who does the purchasing; Morris Mazor, the secretary and financial manager; and Milton Mazor, manager.

"Our expansion is in line with the general growth of business in Oakland in addition to the special demands of our trade," said Morris Mazor, who served fourteen months in the navy during the war. "There is no question as to the future of trade in this city and we merely desire to keep pace with the growth of a little ahead when possible. Service is one of the most important factors in business and we endeavor to give it."

360-POUND GAIN FOR BOY SCOUTS

Physical examination of the 80 members of Oakland-Piedmont Council of Boy Scouts of America, who completed an intensive training course of ten weeks, was held at the headquarters of the council yesterday. The head of Diamond canyon yesterday developed the fact that the boys gained an average of 4 1/2 pounds each and added an average of 1 1/2 inches to their chest expansion.

Sixty-five of the 80 Scouts who were members of the first class were so well pleased with the work that they are to join the new class, which started this morning on a two-week course. There will be about 130 boys in the new class.

During the course just completed, the boys, under direction of competent instructors, learned to swim and eight were promoted to the rank of second-class Scouts.

Approximately 200 adults visited the camp yesterday and watched the boys go through their exercises, a feature of which was a battalion review. Parents and other adults interested in the camp are admitted Sunday afternoon only while the training is in progress.

As an evidence of their handicraft, the Scouts are constructing a suspension bridge thirty feet in length at the camp. The bridge is being built entirely of hewn timber, neither lumber nor nails being used. Parents expressed themselves as highly pleased with the instruction the boys are receiving.

Oakland Rotary Club, which is sponsoring the Boy Scout movement, is raising $2000 among its members for the purpose of helping the work along. The directors of the club, comprising Max Horvinski, Harold Oliver and Louis Reno, are in charge of the raising of funds and are reporting splendid progress. Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough, one of the promoters of the Scout movement, also is devoting much of his time to the work.

Wednesday will be the fourteenth birthday of one of the leper eggs at the county infirmary, and there will be no birthday cake, with or without candles, no remembrances, nothing, unless the good fellows of Oakland have NOT forgotten the large birthday loomed up to the eyes of 14. Manuel Corea has been at the infirmary for three years and will have to spend the rest of his days there, as science has prescribed for those on the outside to remember that birthdays come and go in the little cottages in the hills and that good cheer helps break the monotony of the lives they lead.

The oldest boy, the leper home asked for an accordion a few weeks ago and two were donated. One was therefore given to a younger lad and the new learning to play. Another boy has a violin and in the evening the music made by these isolated inmates helps cheer the other county patients at the hospital.

There is a 16-year-old girl in one of the cottages who has been there for a year, and her plea came to the Blue Bird today for a banjo or other stringed instrument. She can learn to play and wants to join the "orchestra." The most that can be done for these unfortunate children is little compensation for the shut-in life their malady forces upon them.

Workmen are busy remodeling the third floor to make ready for the line of new fall garments being purchased by Manheim, who is now in New York. In all, 2250 square feet of selling space will be added when the alterations are complete. There will be more room, as a result, for the suit, coat and dress department.

The firm has announced an expansion sale, to clean out the present stock in preparation for the fall arrivals.

The Manheim & Mazor store has grown rapidly since it started in 1901 with two small rooms at Twelfth and Washington streets. The present three-story building that it occupies was built for the firm.

The company comprises Paul B. Manheim, who does the purchasing; Morris Mazor, the secretary and financial manager; and Milton Mazor, manager.

"Our expansion is in line with the general growth of business in Oakland in addition to the special demands of our trade," said Morris Mazor, who served fourteen months in the navy during the war. "There is no question as to the future of trade in this city and we merely desire to keep pace with the growth of a little ahead when possible. Service is one of the most important factors in business and we endeavor to give it."

PROFITEERING IN SPRUCE FORESTS TO BE CHARGED

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Charges of waste and profiteering in the production of spruce from Pacific forests for army airplanes were made today by the House committee investigating war department expenditures, by the Providence, R. I. Journal, today.

Advocates were prepared pointing to show that under the department's cost-plus plan, the government paid $550 a thousand for spruce which private concerns could buy for $130 to $175 a thousand.

Other charges prepared by the Journal were:

Hundreds of miles of two-inch plank road were built into isolated logging camps.

Lumber interests influenced army officers by "wild parties."

Out of 21,000 feet of spruce delivered to a Massachusetts factory, inspectors passed only 400 feet.

GAMBLING CLUB RAIDED BY POLICE

Thirty-one men are under arrest, charged with violation of the new anti-gambling ordinance, as the result of the biggest police raid since the new law has been in effect. The police yesterday broke up the "Carlsbad Club," a negro organization at 708 Willow street.

Members of the "club" were found hidden under bars and behind furniture when the police entered the place. The raid was made at 10:30 p.m., and the police obtained their prizes.

The raid has been planned for ten days by policemen Richard Peckey and Mike Connolly of the "Morals Squad."

The two, with Captain Charles Beck, Sergeant A. B. Smith and Sergeant John Slavey, carried out the raid according to carefully laid plans. Rushing the lookout, they forced their way into the "club," where they found in progress blackjack, poker and dice games. Several of the "club" members were caught while trying to escape from the room of the building. Three patrol wagons were used to transport the prisoners to the city hall.

The raid follows the charge made last week by a man who claimed to have been robbed that gaming was going on at this place and at a place conducted by Sid Deering in West Oakland.

The Rev. G. C. Coleman, who has been pastor of the North Oakland Baptist church (colored), Twenty-ninth street, near San Pablo avenue, for the last six and a half years, will leave tonight for a visit of six weeks in the East.

During the course of his pastorate here he has succeeded in making off the entire indebtedness of the church, and as a token of his appreciation of his efforts, the congregation is bearing the expenses of his trip to the East.

One of the principal objects of the minister's trip to the East is to preach the fiftieth anniversary sermon for his father, who has occupied the pulpit at Scottsburg, Va., since the last half century. All other cities that Rev. Coleman has visited are Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Upon his return to Oakland he will resume his pastorate.

The sanity of Joseph Robinson, charged with attempting to pass a fictitious check for $300 on the Bank of America, was questioned when Robinson was arraigned in police court today and he was held in detention for examination.

It is alleged Robinson forged the name of George Pierce, former county auditor, of Sixth avenue and East Fourteenth street. He was arrested in the Banca Fugazi.

Three Arraigned on Second Indictment

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—The second indictment charging Charles O. Swanberg, R. R. Russ and Henry W. Westphal with violating the trading with the enemy act caused their arraignment before Federal Judge Joseph P. McKee this morning. The case being continued one week to plead. They entered pleas of not guilty on the other indictments, charging a similar offense.

Mayor Hurls Defiance at Councilmen Is Angered by Higgins' Rejection "War to Finish" Shouts Executive

"This is to be a fight to a finish!" So announced Mayor John L. Davis today when in the city council he declared open war against Councilmen Fred Soderberg, W. J. Edwards and F. P. Morse, after the three had voted against the confirmation of Preston Higgins, the mayor's secretary, as a member of the Civil Service Board.

The meeting was replete with verbal fireworks. Commissioner W. J. Baccus offered the Higgins confirmation, turned down Friday, to the council, Commissioner Edwards being present today after his illness and being the deciding vote.

Edwards asked that the recent letter of Commissioner Fred Soderberg, in which he accused Higgins of fathering a recall agitation against him, be read once more. Soderberg filed a second letter today, alleging this and other criticisms by Soderberg, with which this city employee regards a commissioner of the city.

LACKS JUDICIAL MIND.
Edwards then stated that while Higgins is an estimable young man, he feared that these acts of his showed him not to have the judicial mind necessary for a member of the Civil Service Board. He also stated that "The mayor's appointments seem always to disrupt the city government."

Morse suggested that it be made clear whether the alleged criticisms of Soderberg were made by Higgins personally, or were dictated by the mayor, intimating that if they were the mayor's instructions Higgins would not be blamed for them, and that in the case he might approve the naming of Higgins.

The three voted to "refer the appointment back to the mayor." Higgins was clearly intended in the city charter, said Soderberg. "That the city of Oakland should not be controlled by one man. The mayor will understand sooner or later that he will not surrender my responsibility."

Until Higgins is confirmed there will be only two members on the Civil Service Board, according to Davis, who says he will appoint one of them. In the meantime Soderberg has asked information from the city auditor as to whether Higgins' resignation as the mayor's secretary has been filed, with a view to holding up his salary in case he reconsiders the resignation.

WILL NOT SURRENDER.

COME IN, WATER'S FINE.
"I am responsible to the people," said the mayor, "and this is my appointment. You have held it up. This shows how you people stand, and the trouble's going to start and everyone can come in. The water's fine."

"Never," said Edwards, "has the mayor brought any of his appointments before this council for a conference."

"Why should I?" interrupted the mayor. "Did you hold conferences with me about the city attorney or the chief of police or anything else?"

"I was about to say before I was interrupted," said Edwards, "that the mayor should pay these things up to his official family. When we approved his last appointment Mr. Kaufman resigned. If these appointments disrupted the city government it is time we should take notice. We want harmony. We can't have this sort of thing—the mayor disrupting the city machinery with his appointments."

APPEALS TO BACCUS.
"What I appointed Kaufman, Roscoe Jones not busy and asked the council to hold it up," asserted the mayor. "Didn't he, Baccus?"

"He did," said Baccus.

"Well, it's a little change around here," said Davis. "For four years I have had to work with appointments of my political enemies. Now it's going to end. It's my turn."

COURT DENIES REDUCTION OF WEILER BAIL

The preliminary examination of the "Rev." John G. Weiler, Socialist, who is charged with violating the syndicalism act in writing death threats to prominent eastbay men, was halted today in Police Judge Roscoe Jones' court when Attorney J. G. Lawlor, defense counsel, requested a postponement.

All preparations had been made for the examination of Weiler. The judge had stated that he had just been retained by Weiler and that he had not had time to study the case. Weiler will be examined July 17.

Efforts to have the $12,000 bail reduced, under which Weiler is still held in the city prison since his arrest about a month ago, were unsuccessful. The defense attorney pleaded that as bail in similar cases had been fixed at $5,000 in San Francisco and the constitutionality of the new syndicalism law had never been tested, the bail on Weiler was exorbitant.

Weiler, who the Oakland police inspector department declare is a radical soap-box orator and an organized promoter of long-standing reputation in this city, is accused of writing letters of violence to eastbay men. He also is accused of sending the series of bomb threats that alarmed this region of the state a month ago.

Evidence that will be entered in Weiler's examination July 17 is an enlarged photograph of a letter written to Captain of Inspectors Peterson and an exhibit of Weiler's handwriting. Two handwriting experts, Carl Eissenschmidt of San Francisco and Milton O. Carlson of Los Angeles, say that the writing is the same.

EX-SALOON MAN REID.
Manuel Andrada, former saloon proprietor at 352 Campbell street, was acquitted in the police court today on a charge of conspiracy. Andrada was held, however, so a new complaint might be lodged.

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES
Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.

Five-Cent Tax Levy For Portable Schools
A five-cent tax levy for portable school buildings for Oakland will be part of Oakland's coming tax rate. This was decided today when the city council granted the request of the Board of Education for this levy, the maximum allowed under the city charter for any work. Commissioner W. J. Baccus opposed the plan, urging that the customary two and one-half cents be given the schools. Commissioner W. H. Edwards urged the maximum. This will mean about $75,000 for each cent levy or a total of $75,000 to build the forty odd schools needed to house increased classes.

NEW IN COURT; RECEIVES TWO SECRET NOTES

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—While a score of women struggled for admittance to the courtroom Harry S. New Jr., confessed slayer of his sweetheart, Freda Lesser, was arraigned today before Judge Gavin W. Craig on an indictment charging him with first degree murder.

It was officially announced that Attorney LeCompte Davis, one of the best-known criminal lawyers in Southern California, had been retained to aid in the fight to save New from the gallows.

Asked the source of the financial remuneration by which Davis was retained, Defense attorney John L. Richardson said:

"Mr. Davis has been retained for good and sufficient reasons," Richardson declined to state whether the money for New's defense had come from United States Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, who, it is claimed, is the father of the accused.

ARRAIGNMENT UNEXPECTED

The arraignment today was unexpected as the date had been set for Tuesday when the grand jury returned its indictment. New was taken before Judge Craig when the latter announced he had an opening in his calendar. The court set Friday morning as the time for New to plead to the charge.

Two mystery letters from a person who claims to have information valuable to the defense of New, were received by New in his cell at the county jail and turned over to his attorney today.

The letters were postmarked "Long Beach" and the writer declared that he had heard from Miss Lesser's own lips a statement of her attitude toward the slayer.

John L. Richardson, attorney for New, immediately placed detectives to work to locate the person who wrote the letters and this was taken as an indication that he regarded them as having some importance.

Whether the girl's statements, as claimed to have been heard by the person who wrote the letters, were true or not, was not disclosed. It was learned, however, that New recognized the signature on the letters as that of a person whom he knew to be acquainted with the girl.

EARLY TRIAL EXPECTED

New will be given an early trial. The murder charge, according to the announcements of the defense and prosecution today. Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes stated that he would ask for an early date for trial and Attorney Richardson said that he would not oppose such a request and was, in fact, in favor of it.

It has been learned that New lived in Denver, Colorado, under the name of "Harry Clancy" for three years and for two years of that time attended Southern University in Los Angeles.

New lived with his mother, who was known in Denver as "Mrs. Lillian Clancy." New's half sister, who is aiding his defense, goes by the name of Clancy.

In Denver, New and his mother first resided at 423 South Eleventh street and later at 4339 Meade street.

ESCAPEE IN COLLEGE.

A prominent Denver business man is authority for the statement that Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, who, it is alleged, is the father of the slayer, came to his aid when he got into trouble while attending college. This man said that New got into a boyish prank and the business man demanded damages. Senator New paid the bill. That was in 1905 and shortly afterward New and his mother left the city.

New's mother, at present known as Mrs. Lily M. Burger, who is in Los Angeles to fight to save her son from the gallows, went to Denver in 1902, according to several persons in the Colorado city.

Mrs. Alice Lesser, the mother of the slain girl, who has been in a critical condition as the result of the shock of her daughter's death, is recovering and will be able to attend the trial of the slayer, it was stated today. A feature of the trial will come when Mrs. Lesser meets Mrs. Burger face to face.

New spent a quiet Sunday and, according to jail guards, is in good spirits.

Confessed Wife Slayer, Guarded From Ukiah Mobs, Lies in Cell and Moans of Love For Slain Girl Bride

Herman Knaesche, Who Admits Killing Companion, Sent to Santa Rosa Jail to Save Him from Neighbors

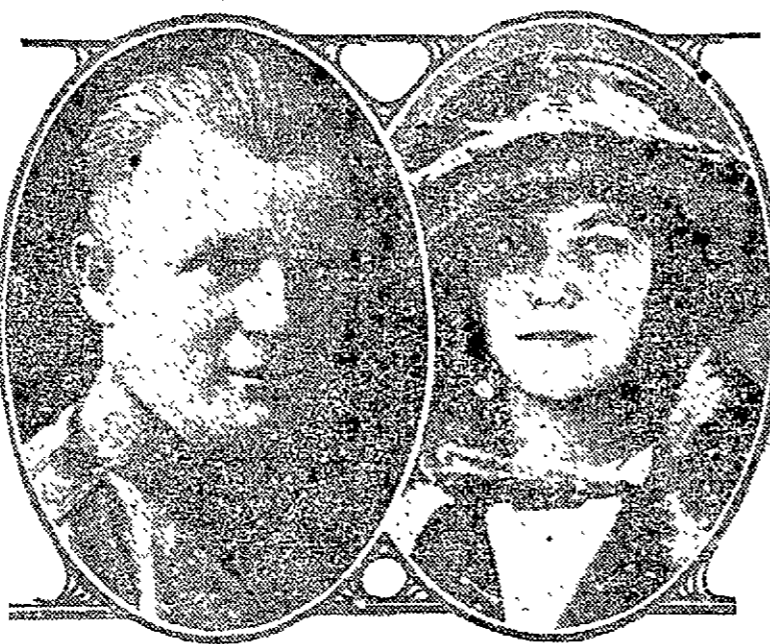

Will Not Be Returned to Home Town for Hearing Until Bitter Feeling Against the Murderer Is Somewhat Abated

SANTA ROSA, July 14.—Hidden away here in the county jail, safe from the vengeful hands of mobs who had threatened to lynch him, Herman Knaesche, self-confessed slayer of his bride, Freda, lies in his cell and moans his love for the woman he so brutally killed. Knaesche passed a sleepless night and his condition today points to a mental and physical breakdown.

Hurried from Santa Rosa by Sheriff Ralph Byrnes after his confession that that angry neighbors might not take the law in their own hands as they threatened Knaesche today seems indifferent to his own fate and concerns himself only with thoughts of his dead wife, their love and the murder. He will be returned to Ukiah for arraignment and trial as soon as the feeling against him has subsided.

from his wife's body when he fired. He aimed for her heart, he said, but shot low. She only moaned, he said, and called his name. Then she staggered across the dining-room of their home to a sleeping porch where Knaesche fired the second charge into her head.

The Knaesches spent the morning of the day of the murder in Ukiah. They appeared very devoted and friendly as they were laughing and joking and seemed to be in the very best of spirits. But when they reached their home on the outskirts of the town Knaesche's feelings suddenly changed.

"I realized," he said in his signed confession, "that my wife's physical condition was not what it should be, but a slight operation would have remedied this. The thought of this fact caused me to lose control of myself and I became a madman. My father died in an insane asylum, and I guess I am crazy, too."

FEAR CAUSED CONFESSION

Knaesche said that upon their return home his wife expressed fear of a shotgun that was hanging on the porch. Then, he says, the impulse to kill came over him.

"I killed her," cried Knaesche over and over today, "but I don't know why I did it. I was mad when I did it. I tell you, I loved Freda. She was dearer to me than my life. I felt that I just had to kill her and I was so sorry when I saw her lying on the bed dead."

The Ukiah authorities however said that the murder was one of deliberate premeditation. They point out that Knaesche had established an almost perfect alibi and only confessed when he realized that the finger prints on the shotgun were soon to be identified as his own.

FATHER DIED INSANE.

It is thought by others, however, that he did it. I was mad when I did it. I tell you, I loved Freda. She was dearer to me than my life. I felt that I just had to kill her and I was so sorry when I saw her lying on the bed dead."

The Knaesches spent the morning of the day of the murder in Ukiah. They appeared very devoted and friendly as they were laughing and joking and seemed to be in the very best of spirits. But when they reached their home on the outskirts of the town Knaesche's feelings suddenly changed.

The Jingles in The Headlines

By Harve Westgate

R-34 has crossed the pond, and all aboard are well, and as the gas bag settled down, the natives gave a yell; and soon all boats will cease to sail upon the ocean green, for we will flit above the clouds where everything's serene.

Perhaps we'll march to Mexico (there's rumor in the air), unless Carranza proves to us that he is on the square; there's talk of intervention, and more trouble's now on tap, and it's even rumored broadcast that Uuk San will have to scrap.

Oh, right away, perhaps today, the fur is going to fly, for senators from east and west are due to argue; they'll score the tax, and swing their axe, and talk of war and peace, and ask just what we're going to do for Ireland's release.

Particularly notable because of the arrival later in the week of "President" Eamon de Valera of the Irish republic, the national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will open this evening with a reception at the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco and will begin its sessions proper at the exposition auditorium in that city tomorrow morning. Today the committee which will greet "President" de Valera made its final arrangements at a meeting at the offices of the Irish Freedom Fund in the city.

Mrs. Nora O'Leary of this city, 74 years of age, will head a committee of the Gaelic League of California, which will be among the city's first greet de Valera. Gaelic, which is spoken exclusively in the Irish parliament, de Valera's home, and officially in Ireland in general, will be the means of expressing this greeting. Other members of the committee are Professor J. J. O'Hegerty, Conor Murphy, Michael O'Mahoney, Sheumam O'Shea, Sheumam Moriarty and J. Harralson.

DE VALERA DUE WEDNESDAY.

De Valera is due either Wednesday night or Thursday morning, and arrangements were making today to send him to the city hall, where he will be greeted by the committee. Andrew J. Gallagher heads the official welcome committee which Mayor James Rolph, Jr. of San Francisco has appointed. The committee planned today also to have the municipal band at the ferry to meet de Valera and he will be escorted from there to the residence of the city hall, where Mayor Rolph will officially greet him. He will address a mass meeting in the auditorium Thursday night, and in the convention Friday afternoon. At eight o'clock the convention banquet Saturday evening and attend the Irish festivities at Shellmound park on this side of the bay Sunday.

A large number of delegates from all parts of the country already are gathered for the convention. It is expected 1,500 will respond to the call for credentials tomorrow morning. At eight o'clock the convention will open with former Congressman Joseph McLaughlin of Philadelphia, national president of the order, in the chair.

HUGH MASS AT 9:30.

At 9:30 o'clock the delegates will parade to St. Mary's for high mass, celebrated by Bishop Hannan, while the mayor will make his address at the auditorium at 12:30 o'clock. The afternoon program will begin at 1:30 o'clock.

On Wednesday morning the convention will go into session at 8:30 o'clock. The Ladies' Auxiliary will meet in Hibernia hall, 464 Valencia street.

The principal day of the convention will be on Friday, when at 10 a. m. President de Valera will deliver his address.

On Saturday election of officers will be held in the morning and in the evening a banquet will hold, with Judge Bernard J. Flood as toastmaster.

De Valera will unveil the Robert Emmet statue in Golden Gate Park Sunday noon.

HOTEL CLERK ROBBED.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—The Day Hotel, 24 Sacramento street, only 200 yards from the Harbor station, was held up by two unmasked men early this morning. The clerk, Andrew Bowen, was robbed of a watch chain with a $10 gold piece chain when he told the bandits he was unable to open the hotel safe.

BACK BROKEN, WALKS MILE.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 14.—Mont Weatherly, a farmer, walked a mile to a physician's office with a broken back. A tree had fallen on him. It is believed that the stamina that enabled him to perform this feat will pull him through.

DRINK VICTIM QUITS U.S. TO SATE THIRST

A craving for booze, it is alleged, has mastered Fred Porter, age 33, who has fled to Mexico where he can imbibe as freely as he wishes, leaving behind a wife and a good position at the Moore shipyards.

After Mrs. Daisy Porter, the wife, had frantically pleaded with the Oakland police to do everything in their power to locate her missing husband, whom she believed to be a victim of violence, and after all regions of California had been given a description of the missing man, it developed today that Porter's reason for deserting his wife and job was to get booze. It was obtained from an authentic source that he is now in Mexico.

According to the story told the police, Porter's craving for strong drink almost broke down his nervous system after June 30. Two days after the United States adopted war time prohibition, Porter dropped out of sight.

The man spent a sleepless night July 1. It is believed that he weighed the problem in his mind and concluded that it was best for him to go to a "wet" region.

Police were notified when Porter did not report at Moore shipyards as usual on the morning of July 2. The matter was reported to Police Sergeant Humphill and he has been directing the search since.

The wires were kept warm today by Mrs. Porter, who was attempting to get in communication with sources in old Mexico that could locate her spouse. Mrs. Porter said everything possible to locate Porter and will attempt to persuade him to return home.

Stepmother of Maxine Elliott Claimed by Death

MRS. ISABELLE PAINE
DERMOT.

Mrs. Isabelle Paine Dermot Succumbs One Week After Stroke of Paralysis

Mrs. Isabelle Paine Dermot, stepmother of Maxine Elliott, the distinguished actress and war worker, Lady Forbes-Robertson, wife of the famous actor-manager, Lord Johnston Forbes-Robertson, herself an actress of international reputation, and Samuel Dermot of San Francisco, system supervisor, department of public accountant, State Board of Control, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 2520 Ninth avenue, following an illness of less than a week. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock from the undertaking chapel, 282 Thirteenth street.

Mrs. Dermot, whose home has been made in East Oakland for many years, came from a distinguished family in Maine, her father, Rev. Henry Paine, being a noted educator of the state and founder of the Coburn Classical Institute of Waterville. The body will be sent to Rockland, Me., for interment beside that of her late husband, Captain Thomas Dermot, who died in 1915.

During the war Mrs. Dermot assisted in relief work, stimulating local interest through the letters which reached her from Maxine Elliott, to whose services 35,000 orphans owe physical necessities.

When Mrs. Elliott played in engagement in San Francisco and Oakland last spring she was Mrs. Dermot's guest.

A stroke of paralysis on Tuesday last caused Mrs. Dermot's death yesterday. She was born in Maine seventy-nine years ago.

ACCOMPLICES OF SHIPYARD THIEF SOUGHT

R. H. Brecht, held in the city jail on a charge of wholesale thefts of supplies and materials from the Moore shipyards, will be prosecuted on a complaint from Joseph Moore, president of the Moore shipyards, in case he is set for an early date in the Police Court, according to the police today. In the meantime investigations are being carried on to locate other members of the alleged gang. It is said, assisted him in the theft of more than $5000 worth of materials. Brecht insists that he had no accomplices, but that he performed the work of receiving the materials found in his basement at 331 Thirtieth street himself.

Detectives have questioned his brother and father, who, Brecht says, were innocent of the thefts. The police have located goods sold. It is charged, by Brecht to Haviland, Davis and Withers, ship chandlers on Steuart street, San Francisco, these including a load of cordage.

GOODS FOUND WORTH $800.

The goods found are said to be worth $800. An earlier sale to this firm was set at $170. The third attempt to sell materials to this firm resulted in the former stockholder's refusal.

Brecht was arrested by Detectives Tom Gallagher and Tom Wood following investigations by Special Agent E. J. Kerrigan of the United States Shipping Board, Inspector Richard McSole, traced the goods sold. The thefts were committed, according to the police, while Brecht was employed as a storekeeper at the Moore yards.

While large amounts of goods have been reported missing from the Moore yards, McSole says that these could not all have been due to the work of one gang, and several other thieves are being sought as partners of material.

McSole believes that neither gang knew of the others' activities. Thefts have been reported in other shipyards.

Brecht, according to the police, admits stealing materials, but denies that he had help. His thefts at the Moore yards are estimated by the police at $5000, but the total of the thefts at the yard, the police say, in the past year and a half run into a total of nearly $20,000.

Several thieves have been arrested at the yard for stealing brass valves and small fittings. The Brecht case, the police say, is the first wholesale theft of the kind to be uncovered.

The murder occurred in the presence of their three children, but Harris ordered the tots from the room before he fired the shot that resulted in his death.

SHIPYARD WAGE SCALE UP SOON

Preliminary conferences relative to wage demands and working conditions of all Pacific Coast metal trades and shipyard workers are at an end, according to local labor leaders, and all hands are awaiting the results of a meeting Thursday when international metal trades officials consult with local unionists in order that a basic scale of time and remuneration may be drawn up for presentation to shipyard workers. The new scale will call for a wage of $1 an hour for skilled craftsmen, with a forty-four hour week. At present 30 cents is the wage paid per hour. This scale will be officially formulated Thursday, according to labor officials, and presented next Monday to shipyard heads and their representatives at an extraordinary session at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

On this latter meeting is based the hope for industrial peace during the reconstruction period. Any wage scale and working agreement adopted will be ratified by the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, according to labor officials.

The shipbuilding industry is at present suffering from a strike of 200 members of "Coppersmiths' Union, No. 95, of San Francisco. This strike has resulted in a laying-off of 50 per cent of the workers in the other branches. The strike will be one of the vital problems in Thursday's meeting.

BOYS GRILLED IN GAS BANDIT POLICE PROBE

Kenneth Rosenberry, 2112 Essex street, and Charlie Bourne, 1404 Spruce street, two 17-year-old Berkeley youths, are held today by the Berkeley police as possible suspects in the "gas bandit" series of Oakland hold-ups in which automobile service stations in the past month have been robbed of more than $1500. The two youths were arrested in Berkeley on a charge of stealing an automobile. The Oakland police are investigating to ascertain if they were connected with the Oakland robberies.

The youths were arrested at University avenue and Grove street, Berkeley, by Policeman Fred Penning on a charge of stealing an automobile belonging to S. W. Baude of 327 Sixty-third street, Oakland. Detective A. S. J. Woods of Berkeley, after investigating the case, notified the Oakland police that the youths might be those wanted here. Several victims of the "gas bandit" holdups will be sent to Berkeley in an effort to identify them.

The "gas bandits" two youths armed with revolvers, in the past month have held up various gasoline service stations, escaping, the police believe, in stolen automobiles. Recently they robbed two stations at Twelfth and Fallon streets, on opposite sides of the street, in three days.

Wilson's Campaign for 1920 Launched

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 14.—Woodrow Wilson's 1920 campaign has been launched. Understanding that the president, if he does not stand again for the presidency, will make his home at Montecito, residents of that exclusive town have decided to make his head of the school board.

The president, himself, has not yet been advised of the honors, but the opinion is unanimous that election will be thrust upon him.

It is considered a fact here that the property of William G. McAdoo, purchased last fall at Montecito, is to be the site of two new homes—one for Woodrow Wilson and the other for McAdoo.

Overseas Flag Is Returned to Claremont Natives After Doing Service With 18th Engineers

The American flag belonging to Claremont Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, which was presented to the Eighteenth Engineers when in France in response to an appeal to friends in Oakland, was returned to the local parlor at patriotic exercises yesterday in which the grand officers of the order and the citizens of Golden Gate district joined. The occasion was recognized as one of peculiar significance when the banner which had led the march overseas was given back to its original owners by Captain Thomas H. Darrow, representing the engineer corps.

A parade opened the patriotic program, the line of march forming at San Pablo avenue and Fifty-third street and proceeding to the public library, where the flag was raised and the participants joined in singing the "Star Spangled Banner." From the library the parade proceeded to the public playground, where a large crowd had assembled to witness the formal return of the flag.

Philip Carey was orator of the day. Addresses were made by Mayor John L. Davis and Miss Mary Brusie, executive secretary for the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West of the committee on homeless children. An original poem was read by Fred A. Campbell, member of the Board of Education. Music was contributed by the band of Piedmont Parlor, N. S. G. W., and by the Victory chorus, girls' division, War Camp Community Service. Grand President W. F. Cauby, Third Grand Vice-President Harry G. Williams, James Wilson and Frank Carr were among the grand officers who took part in the exercises.

Harry Burns was chairman of the day, assisted by George Phillips.

APRICOT TRUCK STUCK; 200 AID

Apricots changed hands faster for about thirty minutes yesterday afternoon than at any other time this season. Approximately 200 persons were involved in the traffic, each appropriating his full share of the luscious fruit. None was willing to stand idly by and see a man "stuck" with apricots this season, so there was a generous and whole-hearted response.

It happened near Mission San Jose, where a big truck loaded with big boxes of apricots got stuck in a mud hole caused by waste water, which from time to time had been thrown into the road by persons who conduct a small soft drink emporium at that point. The road is none too good, and when one of the wheels of the big vehicle dropped into the hole it was impossible for the driver to proceed without unloading his "cots."

Indignant he set about to unload, and during the time it took him to pile the boxes at the side of the road about 200 automobilists had reached the point, and as the truck completely blocked the road, all "hands" alighted and proceeded to relieve the driver of some of his burden. Hands were operating with precision and regularity and when the driver of the truck was ready to proceed the load was several hundred pounds lighter.

Medal Sought for Heroic Lieutenant

VENTURA, Cal., July 14.—Affidavits are being taken here today to secure the Carnegie medal for Lieutenant Lloyd Rogers, student at Stanford University, who saved 13-year old Joan Johnstone, daughter of Dr. Emily Johnstone, from drowning Saturday afternoon. While bathing in the ocean the undertow carried the girl far out to sea.

Rogers plunged in. The breakers hurled him back, but he reached the girl on the second trial and both were washed ashore in a semi-conscious condition. The girl's father is a naval lieutenant on the way home from overseas duty. He retained presence of mind and floated for 35 minutes while Rogers was struggling toward her.

Major Kuhn Takes Command at Kearny

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 14.—Major Joseph H. Kuhn arrived here last night from Washington to take command at Camp Kearny. He takes the place held by Brigadier-General F. S. Strong, who has been assigned to command the South Pacific coast artillery district. General Kuhn said there was every reason to believe that demobilization of the American army could proceed with great rapidity.

RETROACTIVE CLAUSE LONE STRIKE ISSUE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—"The only point now at issue in the strike of telephone workers on the Pacific Coast is the granting by Postmaster General A. S. Burleson of retroactive pay rates back to January 1, instead of June 15, under the complete promise offer of the latter date before we go back to work instead of afterwards."

The above authoritative statement was made here today by a prominent member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers who is a member of the strikers' joint conference committee and is a complete summing up of the sole remaining reason for the continuing of the strike which was begun four weeks ago today.

In that a national Representative James Purcell and Postmaster General Burleson resumed their conference in Washington today according to telegrams received here.

The international representatives here, L. C. Grasser of Fruitvale, and Miss Nellie Johnson of Portland, were expectant of being asked to resume negotiations with Burleson's representative here, General Superintendent D. P. Fullerton, which were halted late Friday night when Fullerton stated he had no authority to grant the retroactive demand of details to be worked out that may take a month.

Disinterested physicians will examine each of the men to determine if they are immune to certain diseases. Tests will then be made to determine to what diseases both will react in nearly the same manner. The germ of that disease will then be made into a culture and the culture injected or otherwise inserted into the bodies of both men.
